

ENVOYS DECIDE ON RECOGNITION

Of Carranza, After Due Deliberation.

THE AGREEMENT UNANIMOUS

Gen. Carranza Officially Assures Security Of Life and Property.

LARGE EFFECT IS EXPECTED

Washington, Oct. 9.—The Pan-American Congress, held to-day at the State Department, unanimously decided to recommend their governments the recognition of Carranza in Mexico. It is believed in Administration circles that this will bring to a close the troubles of Mexico, which have continued for four years.

The official statement issued by Secretary Lansing was as follows:

"The conferees, after careful consideration of the facts, have found that the Carranza party is the only party possessing the essentials for recognition as the de facto government of Mexico and they have so reported to their respective governments."

The nations represented at the conference were: The United States, Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala. Secretary Lansing admitted that the diplomatic agents of the Latin-American countries not participating in the conference had been sounded and that they had approved the action of the conferees.

It is understood that Secretary Lansing favors the early recognition of Carranza, and it is believed at the State Department that the step will be taken some time next week. The South and Central American republics follow, the lead of the United States. The European governments will take similar action at an early date. The State Department has not yet decided which course it will follow. The appointment of Ambassador will necessarily follow, and as soon as this Government sends its accredited diplomatic representatives, the long-standing vacancy at Washington will be filled, the understanding being that for a time at least Eliseo Arredondo, Carranza's confidential agent here, will act as Ambassador to the United States.

The conference to-day was assured by Carranza, officially, that persons may return to Mexico and will be given security of life and property and freedom of worship, provided they have not participated in politics. On the subject of a general amnesty, it was stated that it would be extended to all, with the probable exception of those who have been the leaders of the opposition. When asked if Villa would be excluded from this amnesty, Secretary Lansing said no names were mentioned.

It was announced that the state of foreign claims was not discussed at the conference, it being obvious that a stable and recognized government would be responsible for these obligations. It also was said that the question of an embargo against the sale of arms to Villa or any other faction was not taken up. This was not a matter for the conference, according to an official of the department.

It will be the policy of the United States, it was emphasized, to give material and moral support to the Carranza Government in the expectation that it will restore order. This support will take the form of the suppression of the sale of all arms and the negotiation of a loan by the new government with American financiers.

It was stated officially that none of the European governments whose subjects have large property interests and investments in Mexico was consulted about to-day's action. It is known, however, that the British, French and Spanish Ambassadors have discussed the question informally with Secretary Lansing and have indicated that their governments were ready to follow the lead of the United States.

Secretary Lansing made it clear that while the United States could not condition recognition upon the giving of amnesty of the settlement of other questions of a strictly internal nature, satisfactory assurances on these and other subjects have been received from the Carranza government. These guarantees are as follows:

First—Foreigners will be protected in their lives and property.

Second—The Carranza government assumes full responsibility for claims growing out of the revolution and will adjust them equitably by means of international commissions.

Third—No one will suffer in his life and property on account of religious beliefs; all priests and nuns who have not taken part in Mexican politics will be permitted to return and will be protected, provided they do not participate in politics and obey the Mexican laws governing the separation of church and State.

Fourth—A decree of amnesty is in preparation which will enable all elements, irrespective of political affiliations hereafter to return to Mexico with the exception of those guilty of complicity in the plot to kill Madero and Suarez and who are charged the Carranza government will not lead leaders who hitherto have opposed the Carranza government will not be permitted to return until the government is firmly established and then only if they will pledge allegiance to it.

The form in which recognition is to be extended has not been decided. Secretary Lansing said an Ambassador might be sent to the Carranza capital or an Ambassador named by Carranza received here, or that there might be an exchange of notes.

Says Fight Just Begun.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 9.—"The war is just beginning," said Gen. Francisco Villa, with a broad grin, upon receiving from his representatives at Washington late to-day the news of the recognition of the Carranza faction as the de facto government of Mexico.

Villa in his private car of a troop train, ready to leave for Casas Grandes, had just completed a reception to a party of American women when the news reached him.

A murmur of relief was heard among his bodyguard, as the news spread.

"We know now what we have to do," one exclaimed.

"Better anything than the suspense," said the other.

Satisfaction rather than resentment was generally expressed by the chiefs of the northern leader.

LABORING MEN TO AID IN STANLEY CAMPAIGN

The Louisville Times says:

That the members of the Kentucky Federation of Labor intend to give A. O. Stanley, candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket, their fullest support during the campaign is evidenced by the fact that John Schneider, member of the Legislative Committee of the Federation, was sent to Washington recently to get Mr. Stanley's complete record of his activity in behalf of organized labor while a member of Congress. Mr. Schneider returned last night and said that Mr. Stanley, beginning with the Fifty-ninth Congress, had always fought for legislation favorable to the laboring man.

While in Washington Mr. Schneider conferred with W. B. Wilson, Secretary of the Department of Labor; Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; Thomas J. Williams, president, and W. J. Spencer, secretary of the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor, all of whom furnished him with data that will be used to further Mr. Stanley's campaign.

Last Presidential Vote.

The popular vote in 1912 was as follows: Wilson, 6,293,019; Taft, 3,484,956; Roosevelt, 4,119,507; Debs (Soc.) 901,873; Chaffin (Prob.) 207,928; Reimer (Soc.), 29,259.

The electoral vote was: Wilson, 435; Taft, 8; Roosevelt, 88. Roosevelt carried Minnesota, Michigan, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Washington and 11 of the 13 electoral votes of California, Wilson getting the other two. Taft carried Utah and Vermont. The other States went to Wilson.

Champions Of Cause Will Meet This Week.

FIVE GOVERNORS OF STATES

Are Scheduled For Addresses
On This Most Important Movement.

KENTUCKIANS AT THE FRONT

Bluefield, W. Va., Oct. 11.—At least five Governors—Goldsborough of Maryland, Stuart of Virginia, Rye of Tennessee, McCreary of Kentucky, and Hatfield of West Virginia—are scheduled for addresses at the seventh annual convention of the Southern Appalachian Good Roads Association, to be held here October 14 to 16. Meetings and exhibits will be in Bluefield's new Masonic Temple.

Fully 300 delegates will attend from the nine States represented in the association—Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia. They will be guests of the Bluefield Chamber of Commerce on Friday afternoon for an excursion over the Norfolk and Western Railway's electric zone into the Pocahontas coal field, with a visit to one of the big mines.

All phases of road financing, construction and maintenance will be dealt with by experts. Maintenance, one of the bugbears of the good-roads movement, will be given special attention, with two addresses and open discussion. Progress reports will be made by numerous road associations, a score of State and interstate highways, the nine States and many of the counties.

Among other speakers will be John H. Small, Congressman from North Carolina; M. O. Eldridge, acting director of the United States Office of Public Roads; A. A. Lilly, Attorney-General of West Virginia; A. G. Tatchelder, of the American Automobile Association; M. V. Richards, of the Southern Railway, and State Highway Engineers and other road experts from the nine States.

In addition to Governor McCreary, Kentucky will be represented on the program by Robert C. Terrell, Commissioner of Public Roads; Judge T. J. Asher, of the Bell County Court; Pineville; R. J. McBride, President of the Kentucky Good Roads Association; N. R. Patterson, President of the Southeastern Kentucky Good Roads Association; M. M. Allison, President of the Dixie Highway Association; Guthrie Wilson, President of the Kentucky County Good Roads Engineers' Association, and James Maret, President of the Boone Way Association.

Mr. Maret is Vice President of the Southern Appalachian for Kentucky, and Will Ward Duffield, of Harlan, is a member of its Executive Committee.

HIGHWAYMEN HOLD UP BOOKKEEPER—GET $9,000

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 9.—Two men, who rode motorcycles, held up and robbed Earl Smith, bookkeeper in the office of the Lattas Creek Coal Company, near Hymers, south of here, early to-day and escaped with $9,000 in currency brought to the mine to pay off the men.

The robbers rode up to the office of the mine, which is owned by the Vandalia Coal Company of this city, and holding Smith at bay with drawn revolvers, looted the steel strong box in which the money was taken to the mine.

They then mounted their machines and rode west toward Shelby, Ind.

ASSASSINATED AS HE WAITED ON CUSTOMERS

Harrodsburg, Ky., Oct. 9.—W. H. Bobaum, prominent churchworker and proprietor of a large mercantile store at Cornishville, this county, was shot and instantly killed at 8 o'clock to-night as he was waiting on customers in his store.

The identity of his assailant is unknown. The shot was fired through a window of the store; the charge took effect in the back of his head, nearly decapitating him. Mr. Bobaum recently told friends that his life had been threatened, but he had never discussed the nature of the trouble. His friends are at a loss to explain the reason for his murder. His wife died about one year ago, and he is survived by one child, a little girl. Mr. Bobaum was about 38 years old.

ESTIMATES WAR LOSSES TOTAL NEARLY 8,000,000

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Gen. Francis Vinton Greene, of the United States army, retired, in an address on the war before the New York State Historical Association, gave what he called an "intelligent guess" of the casualties. He estimated the number of killed at 2,066,000, the wounded at 3,626,000, the missing at 2,305,000 and the total casualties at 7,977,000. These were minimum figures, the General said. Gen. Greene divided the total losses as follows:

Great Britain, 392,000; France, 1,400,000; Russia, 2,200,000; Italy, 25,000; Belgium, 80,000; Serbia, 70,000. Total allied losses, 4,167,000.

Losses of the Teutonic allies were estimated as follows: Germany, 1,900,000; Austria, 1,800,000; Turkey, 130,000. Total for Teutonic allies, 3,830,000.

TOBACCO OUTLOOK POOR —QUALITY UNDER GRADE

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 10.—The weekly review of tobacco conditions in the Paducah district is not encouraging. Samples brought in from the growing sections show slightly better quality than was expected, but the quality is not uniform, and as an average the crop is poor. The signs of insect ravages are plain, much of the best leaf being badly pierced. Firing and cutting has been well done, and offsets the field damage to some extent. As yet there is no indication of a resumption of market activity. Forty hogsheds were sold here during the week, lugs bringing 4 to 6 cents, common to good leaf, 8 and 12 cents a pound. Mayfield reports no sales and the market on old tobacco is "draggy."

Holy Land Armed Camp.

Paris, Oct. 11.—The Turks have transformed the Holy Land into a huge military camp, according to refugees who have arrived at Alexandria.

All the convents in Jerusalem now are barracks and thousands of recruits daily are drilled on the Mount of Olives and Samaria Plain by German officers.

Immense targets have been placed on Mount Golgotha, the spot where the crucifixion took place, to serve in artillery practice to test the effect of high explosives.

Heavy Toll Of Officers.

London, Oct. 9.—Total casualties of officers of the British Army from the beginning of the war up to September 27, are shown by figures just given out to have reached a total of 17,074, of which 5,176 were officers who were killed or had died, while 10,469 were wounded and 1,429 listed as missing.

RICHES ABOUND IN 1915 CROPS

Record Wheat Yield Of a Billion Bushels.

CORN TO BRING THE FARMERS

Over $2,133,000,000 and Tobacco Promises To Exceed the 1909 Mark.

POTATOES ONLY SHORT CROP

Washington, Oct. 9.—American harvests this year will be the most valuable ever produced. With the wheat crop exceeding a billion bushels, the largest ever produced in one season by any nation, and a corn crop which also may prove to be the largest ever grown, the Government's October crop report, issued to-day, announced preliminary estimates which indicate record harvests of oats, barley, rye, sweet potatoes, rice, tobacco and hay.

Corn still is king of crops with indications of 3,026,159,000 bushels. While that is 98,000,000 bushels below the record of 1912, the final production, when the harvest is finished and all statistics compiled, may more than make up the difference. The higher price this year assure, the most valuable corn crop ever grown. At prices to farmers prevailing October 1, the corn crop is worth $2,133,000,000.

Wheat prospects increased as the growing season progressed and the Government's early season forecasts moved up month by month as to-day's preliminary estimate of production was placed at 1,002,029,000 bushels. Wet weather at harvest time, however, reduced the quality of winter wheat so that much of it will not be available for milling purposes and will have to be used for feed. At prices prevailing October 1, the farm value of the crop is $910,844,000, considerably more than ever was paid for a wheat crop before.

September weather was particularly destructive to potatoes, causing a reduction of 37,758,000 bushels, or 10 per cent., in the forecast of production. Tobacco also suffered from unfavorable conditions, which caused a decrease of 1,196,000 pounds in the production forecast. Tobacco, however, promises to exceed the record crop of 1909 by 43,000,000 pounds. Oats will exceed the record crop of 1912 by almost 100,000,000 bushels. Barley will exceed its record by 13,000,000 bushels; sweet potatoes by 5,000,000 bushels; rice by 500,000 bushels; hay by 8,000,000 tons.

Kentucky Crops.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Estimates of crop production and prices for the State of Kentucky, compiled by the Bureau of Crop Estimates, and transmitted through the Weather Bureau, U. S. Department of Agriculture, are as follows:

CORN—October 1 forecast 119,000,000 bushels, September 1 forecast 120,132,000, final estimate last year 121,250,000; price October 1 to producers 70 cents, year ago 85 cents per bushel.

WHEAT—Estimate this year 8,620,000 bushels, final estimate last year 12,540,000; price October 1 to producers $1.02; year ago $1.05.

OATS—Production estimate October 1 is 4,540,000 bushels, September 1 forecast 4,726,000, final estimate last year 3,675,000; price October 1 to producers 49 cents, year ago 54 cents.

POTATOES—October 1 forecast 5,410,000 bushels, September 1 forecast 5,624,000, final estimate last year 2,250,000; price October 1 to producers 46 cents per bushel; year ago $1.04.

APPLES—October 1 forecast 3,760,000 barrels, September 1 forecast 3,500,000 barrels, final estimate last year 3,000,000 barrels; price September 15 to producers $1.50 per barrel, year ago $1.56.

TOBACCO—October 1 forecast 379,000,000 pounds, September 1 forecast 384,384,000 pounds, final estimate last year 364,000,000.

Why Trust Them Further?

The Cadiz Record says: During the past twenty years the Republicans have had the reins of government in Kentucky for two terms of four years each, and yet not a word of praise has yet fallen from the lips of Ed Morrow or any of the other campaign speakers. If they did nothing in eight years to commend them to the people, how on earth can they hope to be trusted further with the affairs of government?

GREAT "EATS" OFFERED WILSON BY KENTUCKIAN

Washington, Oct. 8.—Under the impression evidently that the President, before his approaching marriage in December, proposes to give a series of "menagerie dinners," a Kentuckian has applied for the privilege of furnishing an assortment of wild animals for White House guests.

Before President Wilson and his fiancée Mrs. Norman Galt, of this city, left Washington to-day for New York, the following letter from W. T. Hodgen, of Campbellsville, addressed to President Wilson, arrived at the White House:

"For a big wild animal dinner at the White House, I can furnish 500 opossums, 50 cents to $1 each; groundhogs, 50 cents to $1 each; one pair nice tame baby black bears, $50 each, or $100 the pair. They can be handled without danger. This lot of animals is in fine condition. Your orders shall have prompt attention. Thanks."

The letterhead of the Kentuckian shows that he is a wholesale and retail dealer in wild animals and his terms are cash.

PAYS WORTHY TRIBUTE TO GOVERNOR MCCREARY

Hon. A. O. Stanley, the Democratic nominee for Governor, paid a splendid tribute to the character of retiring Governor McCreary in his speech at Warsaw. The old Governor is going down the western slope of life now, but in his whole career he has been a gentleman and a Democrat. Sometimes we have differed on public measures, but in no case can it be said that tainted money ever stuck to his hands or that tainted legislation ever passed through his scrutiny. In all probability this is Governor McCreary's last appearance on the stage of political activity, but he has always borne himself like the gentleman that he is.—[Bowling Green Messenger.]

OLDEST NEGRO IN U. S. DIES AT AGE OF 137

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 7.—"Aunt" Mahaley Gibbs, known by statistics to be 137 years old, the oldest negro in the Southern States and probably in the United States, died here this morning. Her baby child is Eliza Gibbs, aged seventy, who has a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. "Aunt" Mahaley Gibbs was known to many white people of Memphis as a fortune teller. Some things she has predicted have come true. She was a constant smoker and up until a few days ago had perfect health. She said smoking preserved her health.

NO TOBACCO POOL IN A. S. OF E. THIS YEAR

The Owensboro Inquirer says: It was finally decided at the district meeting of the American Society of Equity held at the court house to "turn down" the pool, because of the lack of encouragement given by the tobacco growers.

The meeting was called to order by President Dunn, with delegates present from Ohio, Daviess, Hancock and McLean counties and also from Spencer county, Ind. Verbal reports were heard from the delegates from the various counties, which were very discouraging to those that were undertaking to pool the 1915 crop of tobacco. It was determined some time ago that unless 75 per cent. of the tobacco in the district was pooled, it would be useless to form a pool. Reports showed that in some parts of the district, especially in the eastern end of Daviess county, the farmers were almost unanimous in favor of pooling, while in some schoolhouse districts not one farmer would agree to pool.

The general sentiment in the district was against the pooling system, and by a resolution passed at the meeting, it was decided to abandon the pool proposition altogether. The tobacco will most likely be sold over the loose leaf floors.

NATION'S HEAD IS TO MARRY AGAIN

President's Engagement
Is Announced.

TO WED MRS. MARGARET GALT

Was Introduced To Mr. Wilson By His Daughters
—A Noted Beauty.

MATCH SEEMS TO PLEASE ALL

Washington, Oct. 7.—Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, has announced his engagement to Mrs. Norman Galt, of Washington. The date of the wedding has not been fixed, but it probably will take place in December at the home of the bride-elect.

The brief announcement from the White House, made by Secretary Tamm, came as a surprise to official Washington, but to a number of intimate friends it long has been expected. From this circle came the story of a friendship whose culmination was viewed as a happy turn in the troubled and lonely life of the nation's chief executive.

It was Miss Margaret Wilson and her cousin, Miss Bones, who drew Mrs. Galt into the White House circle. They met her first in the early autumn of last year and were so much attracted by her that they sought her out more and more frequently and the friendship between them rapidly ripened into an affectionate intimacy.

Mrs. Galt spent a month this summer at Cornish as the house guest of the President's eldest daughter. It was through this intimacy of his daughter and cousin that the President had an opportunity to meet and know Mrs. Galt. One of the most interesting facts about the engagement, indeed, as told by friends, is that the President's daughters should have chosen Mrs. Galt for their admiration and friendship before their father did.

Mrs. Galt is the widow of a well known business man of Washington who died eight years ago, leaving a jewelry business that still bears his name. She has lived in Washington since her marriage in 1896. She is in the late thirties and was Miss Betty Bolling, born in Wytheville, Va., where her girlhood was spent, and where her father, William H. Bolling, was a prominent lawyer.

In the circle of people who have known Mrs. Galt for many years she has been regarded as an unusual beauty, gifted with a natural charm. Friends speak of her as being constantly sought out as a delightful companion, remarking especially on her thoughtfulness and quick capacity for anything she chose to undertake.

For many weeks Mrs. Galt and her relatives have been frequent dinner guests at the White House. Often she has accompanied the President on motor rides. She is not quite as tall as Mr. Wilson, has dark hair and dark eyes, and always is in stylish attire. Her tastes are said to be strikingly similar to those of the President, with a deep interest in literature and charity work.

Friends of the President expressed their pleasure over the announcement not only because of Mr. Wilson's personal happiness, but because they felt this new companionship would give him support and comfort in his home life—a vital need during the hours of strain over the nation's problems. With the marriage of his two daughters and the death of Mrs. Wilson more than a year ago, the President's life had become one of solitude. His absorption in official labors began to tell on him physically, and when a few months ago he began to take a renewed interest in personal affairs, his friends and members of the family welcomed the distinct change which it brought about in his health and spirits. The President was born, December 28, 1856.

The President's wife died August 6, 1914.

Buildings and Tracks Destroyed.
Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 7.—One of the heaviest sufferers from the hurricane that swept over New Orleans and the Gulf coast is the Louisville & Nashville railroad, whose property has been damaged more than $500,000.

Every train on the road has been annulled, the track being out of commission from New Orleans to Ocean Springs, Miss. The three-mile bridge spanning Bay St. Louis was washed away. The bridge at the Rigolais was destroyed and there is hardly a vestige of track left between Dunbar and Bay St. Louis.

Great gangs of workmen are being sent to repair the tracks, but the work on account of high water is very slow and tedious and may take a week. Two section houses belonging to the road were demolished, twenty-one persons being killed in the one at the Rigolais. Station houses have been razed all along the coast, the water reaching a height of eight feet in some places.

Charles Marshall, superintendent of the road, said it was impossible to report just what would be the company's loss, but that it would amount up to six figures, since several passenger coaches had been demolished and others unroofed.

ODD BITS OF NEWS.

Milburn, O.—J. D. Hart exhibited at the county fair a pair of stockings over 100 years old. They were made by his grandmother who picked the cotton, wove it into thread and then knit the stockings. During the storm in Galveston in 1900, they were rescued with difficulty and by the merest accident were saved.

Beloit, Wis.—Clarence Montroy is earning money to pay his way through school by allowing automobiles to run over his body at a mile a minute clip. Then he takes up a collection in the crowd. He also bends horseshoes in his teeth as a side line. He was left an orphan when his father murdered his mother, sister and brother and committed suicide.

Williston, N. D.—When Kenneth Jordan, an 8-year-old prisoner in the county jail, secured the keys from the sheriff and opened the doors, telling the prisoners they could escape, only one of the twelve took advantage of the offer. The one who escaped was re-arrested.

Chester, Pa.—When William Downs was entrapped by blue dye in a vat which he was mending, he was overcome by fumes and taken out for dead. After the undertakers had prepared the body for burial and removed it to Downs' home, the corpse arose on his bed and yelled: "I'm not dead, and don't you think I am."

Shelbyville, Ind.—The Lon Mull farms near Manila have the record apple. It is sixteen inches in circumference and weighs 26 ounces.

Philadelphia, Pa.—It takes fifty cents to commit suicide by the gas route in Philadelphia. When Viola Day grew tired of life, put a pipe on the gas jet, the other end in her mouth and lay down to die, the quarter in the meter ran out and her life was saved.

London, Eng.—English women who have always looked on the use of rouge as bad taste, are beginning to use it in large quantities. The makers of cosmetics say that worry from the war is making the women pale and they are resorting to paints and powders in desperation.

Neuralgia of the face, shoulder, hands, or feet requires a powerful remedy that will penetrate the flesh. Ballard's Snow Liniment possesses this power. Rubbed in where the pain is felt is all that is necessary to relieve suffering and restore normal conditions. Price 25c, 50c and $1 per bottle. Sold by Wilbur Mitchell, Beaver Dam.

Electrical Detectors Very Useful.
New York, Oct. 7.—More than seventy-three German submarines have been destroyed or captured by the British, chiefly through the aid of electrical detectors installed along the coast of England, Scotland and Ireland, according to William Dubilier, an American engineer, who arrived here to-day on the steamer St. Paul.

Dubilier, who has been installing various electrical devices for the British and French Governments during the past four months, said the electrical detectors had proved to be the most efficient means for local hostile submarines. He said that although only the highest admiralty officers know the exact number of German submarines that have been destroyed, he learned on good authority that the number exceeded seventy-three. Dubilier installed numerous small wireless equipments along the French front to replace telephone systems which frequently broke down on account of interference with the wires.

The Reason Why.
"What became of that morning train you used to catch into the city?" asked the city man of the suburbanite.
"Oh, it's been taken off!" replied the suburbanite.
"You must miss it?"
"Not so often as I used to!"

A WILSON VICTORY IS AGAIN SCORED

The German Government
"Comes Across"

AS TO SUBMARINE WARFARE

Clears Way For Deal With Great Britain As To England's Blockade.

LATTER AFFECTS KENTUCKIANS

Washington, Oct. 7.—Germany has completely acceded to the American demands for settlement of the Arabic case. The Imperial Government, in a letter presented by its Ambassador, Count von Bernstorff, to Secretary Lansing, disavows the sinking of the vessel, announces that it has so notified the submarine commander who made the attack, expresses regrets for the loss of American lives, and agrees to pay an indemnity to their families.

Official Washington was both gratified and relieved by the diplomatic victory. The communication delivered by the Ambassador pursuant to general instructions from his Government spread absolute confidence that there would be no more submarine controversies between the United States and Germany, for the document reveals that stringent orders have been given to submarine commanders to prevent a recurrence of such incidents as the Arabic.

Since this case embraces the principles for which President Wilson contended in his notes following the torpedoing of the Lusitania and the Falaba, the concessions made by Germany to the American viewpoint were generally regarded here as paving the way for amicable settlement of all the cases which have threatened severance of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

The Administration's victory is, therefore, sweeping in its extent. It brings to end negotiations that have been pending with more or less vacillation on Germany's part, but with fixed determination on the President's part since the sinking of the Lusitania nearly eight months ago.

This settlement with Germany leaves the Administration free to join issues with Great Britain over the injustice of the Order of Council and the hardships placed on American commerce as a result of England's "paper" blockade.

With the settlement of the Arabic controversy the dispatch to Great Britain of the long-delayed American note on interference with trade is expected within a few days. President Wilson has consistently refused to send this communication while the issues with Germany were pending, because the Berlin government, through its notes, had given the impression that on the action which the United States took with one set of belligerents depended its own conformity to international law. As the issues with Germany appear now to be adjusting themselves, the President, it is known, feels free to press Great Britain for a modification of the Orders in Council and restrictions of American trade.

The dark tobacco growers of Kentucky, who under normal industrial conditions, export the greater part of their product, are among those that have felt keenly the effect of the Order in Council.

The President has not felt at liberty to deal decisively with Great Britain as long as the "German menace" hung over this country. He has not wanted a settlement of either controversy to be contingent on the success of the other.

To Demand von Papen's Recall.
Washington, Oct. 7.—Unless Capt. von Papen, the German military attaché, is voluntarily withdrawn by his government, indications to-day were that within a short time the United States would request his recall.

All the papers carried by James F. J. Archibald, the American correspondent involved in the case of Dr. Dumba, have now been placed before state department officials and while final decision will await the return of Secretary Lansing, it became known to-day that the documents disclose a transgression of diplomatic proprieties on von Papen's part such as had caused the recall of the Austrian Ambassador.

In the list of documents now in possession of the State department are four cipher letters from Dr.

Dumba, some from Capt. von Papen and one, it is believed, from Count von Bernstorff, although on the latter point official confirmation was lacking. In the batch, however, were letters from Count von Bernstorff, introducing Mr. Archibald. There is nothing, so far as officials would disclose, which indicated that the German Ambassador had violated diplomatic proprieties.

SENTIMENT.

"Hit the ball hard for sentiment," says the editor of the Trenton, Michigan, Times, and in this touches the keynote of all that is dreamed and done to make the world progress. Sentiment is the disposition prompting to action or expression. It is the antithesis of sentimentality, which is the affectation of fine feeling. Sentiment is a feeling for a person or thing which prompts to action. It does more than that—it urges, it forces action.

Love of country, or parents or of children has been the motive behind all the great works of art, of inventions, of great sacrifices and the building of great enterprises. Appeal to sentiment is a cry to the highest emotion. Through it newspapers build up large circulations, families are brought together, towns are formed and nations welded in an indissoluble bond. How greatly do those works of passion appeal, in which the actual is told with the spark of truth and nature! How do those dramas of life grip our souls when the suffering or the love or the struggle of character against character are laid before us in such a way as to be real. Through sentiment entire strangers are knit in an enduring friendship. Great orators, appealing to our sentiment, lead us on to almost impossible tasks.

It is only when we depart from true sentiment into the realms of the sentimental that we go back. Thus the demagogue works, whose orations are aimed at a passing feeling—an emotion that does not nor cannot last. A whole State or nation may be swept by this momentary sentimentality, as is indicated by political movements which are not based on truth and flare up and die unmourned and discredited. Every movement should have the test of sentiment applied to it. If selfishness, money-making, untruth, is shown in the reaction, it should be condemned positively and finally.

TOO SMALL A SALARY TO SUPPORT ANY GERMS

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside a contributor tells the following amusing story:

"A friend of mine who is a cashier in a bank told me this incident which happened recently: 'A pretty little rural school teacher came into the bank with an order for a month's wages. I handed her the amount in paper money. Noticing her hesitancy in picking the money up, I apologized for giving her torn and soiled bills, and remarked I had forgotten that teachers were afraid of germs. She replied that such was not her thought at all, as she was certain no germ could live on her salary.'"

Thrust Viewed as Ended.
London, Oct. 7.—The Petrograd correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company sends the following:

"Military writers in the light of the latest dispatches, are of the opinion that the great German thrust east of Sviatsky (on the main line of the Warsaw-Vladivostok-Petrograd railroad) may be considered at an end. The enemy being forced, back toward the Dvinsk-Vilna railway, the Russians are straightening out their front to the south of Dvinsk and west of Vitebsk, and in general the enemy's offensive from Riga to the Pinsk region has been arrested."

"It is pointed out with satisfaction that the enemy, although greatly re-enforced, apparently has been unable to follow up the recapture of Lutsk."

When Baby Has the Croup.
When a mother is awakened from sound sleep to find her child who has gone to bed apparently in the best of health struggling for breath, she is naturally alarmed. Yet if she can keep her presence of mind and give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy every ten minutes until vomiting is produced, quick relief will follow and the child will drop to sleep to awaken in the morning as well as ever. This remedy has been in use for many years with uniform success. Obtainable everywhere.

Agitation is the antidote for stagnation.

WAS THE FIRST TO NAME LINCOLN

Israel Green Proposed Him
For President

IN NOVEMBER, YEAR OF 1858

Letter Discovered Which Gives First Suggestion Of
"Great Emancipator."

OHIO MAN HOLDS THIS HONOR

The first public suggestion that Abraham Lincoln be nominated as President of the United States came, as far as records can be traced, from Israel Green, of Findlay, Ohio. The letter is universally admitted by students of Lincoln's life and his many biographies to be the first public suggestion that Illinois' favorite son was good Presidential timber. The letter was published in the Cincinnati Gazette and attracted widespread attention. Immediately after its publication, the name of Lincoln became linked with the Presidential nomination.

Israel Green, in discussing the circumstances that led him to write this historic letter, says in a letter to his daughter, Mrs. Clara Green Murphy, of Delphi, Ind.:

"You will remember that I aided in organizing the Republican party in this State on June 17, 1854, as a delegate from Morgan county. I also was a delegate in the memorable Philadelphia national convention on June 17, 1856. I voted for the nomination of Fremont, and aided in securing his nomination as the first Presidential candidate of the young and vigorous Republican party."

"In 1858 Judge Douglas and Mr. Lincoln were opposing candidates for United States Senator from the State of Illinois. Lincoln challenged Douglas to meet him in joint debate in each of the congressional districts of that State and to discuss before the people the principles advocated by the two parties. I carefully read the speeches, replies, and rejoinders of each, and on the sixth of November, while sitting alone in my drug store in Findlay, thinking of the mastery speeches made by Lincoln at the several points of the State; how ably and grandly he bore himself, the great enthusiasm his presence and manners aroused among the people; the love the masses seemed to have for him, I said to myself, 'There is the man for our President in 1860.'"

"So thinking, I went to my desk and hastily wrote the letter in question, and it appeared in the Gazette on November 11, 1858. In May, 1860, the Chicago convention nominated Lincoln for President, and he was triumphantly elected. There never sat in the Presidential chair a man more beloved, trusted, and confided in than 'Honest Old Abe.'"

Copies of the letter have been eagerly sought by students of Mr. Lincoln's life and by public libraries and educational institutions.

Chronic Constipation.
"About two years ago when I began using Chamberlain's Tablets I had been suffering for some time with stomach trouble and chronic constipation. My condition improved rapidly through the use of these tablets. Since taking four or five bottles of them my health has been fine," writes Mrs. John Newton, Irving, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.

SPECIAL NOTICE
In regard to
OBITUARIES, RESOLUTIONS
OF RESPECT, &c.

The Hartford Herald has adopted a new rule in regard to Obituaries, Resolutions of Respect, Cards of Thanks, &c., whether written personally or for lodges, churches or individuals, and that is, we shall charge at the rate of five cents per line for all such articles, except obituary poetry, which will be one cent per word straight.

The amount, in cash or stamps, must accompany each article, or it will not be printed. Six words average a line in ordinary reading and every separate character or initial letter counts as a word. The heading and the signature both count one line each, even if they are only a word or two. All obituary poetry, straight through, one cent per word. This ruling applies to everybody alike, without any distinction.

F. C. Howe

On The Advantages of Free Ports

Mr. F. C. Howe, Federal Commissioner of Immigration, who is one of the best American authorities on marine commerce, in discussing the relation of free ports to the development of sea trade said in part:

"Ships will go hundreds of miles out of their way to avoid ports surrounded by a tariff wall. The only way, therefore, for a country with a tariff to compete in the shipping world with a free-trade country is to establish free ports at strategic points along its coast line. Germany has done so, and in a comparatively short period has built up a carrying trade which before the war was seriously threatening England's supremacy. Hamburg, one of the three German free ports, now ranks as the second greatest seaport in the world, its total foreign commerce in 1913 being only $6,000,000 under that of New York.

"The free port would offer great opportunity for financial operations, now made possible by the recent currency act. It would stimulate international banking, and would tend to shift the financial center of the world to this country. And America, by the logic of events, has become the natural center for the world's financing, just as London became that center several centuries ago, when it shifted from the cities of the Netherlands. But the financial center will only move to this country when it becomes a clearing house of goods as well as of money. For credit the world over is created by currently created wealth in transit or change so that our financial expansion is dependent upon the opening up of American ports to the clearance of the wealth of the world. A port should not operate to yield a return on the investment, but to develop the prosperity of the country." In recapitulating the advantages, Mr. Howe brings out the importance of the free port in developing our shipping and linking us with South America, Asia and Africa, and then concludes:

"The most important gain is the direct gain to America. It will cheapen commodities by bringing great quantities of goods to our doors for importation or export, as trade needs demand. It will stimulate the growth of exporting houses, which can hold goods for an indefinite period without payment of tariff dues (often equal to the cost of the article itself) for disposal to meet the trade demands of the whole world. It will upbuild international credit and shift to America an increasing and ultimately a predominant share in international exchange.

"Finally, America is the natural country to be the counter of the world. Its seacoasts face every other continent; it is the greatest of all reservoirs of raw materials and foodstuffs. In iron and steel and standardized production it is in a position to compete with the world. But international trade (and this is always overlooked) must be reciprocal. It cannot be one-sided. And credit balances cannot for any prolonged period be paid in gold. They can only be paid by exchange of wealth."

BUSINESS PICKING UP IN LOUISVILLE DISTRICT

Bulletin of Federal Reserve Board Indicates Increased Activity.

Washington, Oct. 7.—That general business conditions in the Eighth district—the district in which Louisville is situated—showed an increased activity during the last month, is indicated by the monthly bulletin of the Federal Reserve Board, issued today.

"Indications are that the crop will be well above both the 1914 yield and the ten-year average," the bulletin says. "The same may be said of oats, hay, and other fodder crops. The condition of the tobacco crop in Kentucky and Tennessee is good."

The bulletin points out that the industrial and agricultural conditions in the Fourth—the Cleveland—district, of which Kentucky is a part, are improving satisfactorily.

"After a long wet season this section had ten to fifteen days of warmth and sunshine," the bulletin goes on to say. "Naturally this condition is very favorable to the farmers, and they report that the loss on grain in the shock is relatively slight and that corn is ripening well. Briefly stated, they expect very good returns on their crops and are generally optimistic. Burley tobacco is improved by these weather conditions. Crops will not be quite as large as usual, but the improved quality will make up for the deficiency, so that the money return will be at least normal."

The total amount of Kentucky commercial paper, exclusive of bank acceptances, rediscounted by the St. Louis reserve banks during August was $176,400.

Of the sixty-eight Kentucky member banks in the St. Louis district, four availed themselves of the rediscount privilege during the last month, and of the seventy-two Kentucky member banks that are affiliated with the Cleveland Regional Reserve Bank three took advantage of the rediscount privilege. The majority of the commercial paper rediscounted was that which matures within ninety days.

TENT PREACHING IN A CHINESE PROVINCE

Wisdom Of Solomon Appealed To Intelligence Of A Confucian Scholar.

A missionary in Shantung, China, says:

"You may be interested to know something of our evangelistic work with the tent. Seventeen cities and towns were visited this spring, and probably 35,000 people heard the gospel.

"The tent has a decided advantage over preaching on the street. On the street the audience is largely composed of farmers. Many of the gentry come to the tent, and the farmers come also, thus the tent is a more effective means of reaching both classes. Then the people stay longer in the tent to listen to the preaching. We have had perhaps a thousand people at one time in the tent, and such a crowd would be out of the question on the street. Our audience's attendance is usually about 200, but this makes a good audience, and it keeps changing so that in the course of the day from 500 to 1,000 people have been in the tent and listened to the gospel, for we find a willingness to listen to the gospel. We also find the people keep returning to the tent until their faces become familiar.

"One day while going along the road with a friend we came to a village where we were invited in to drink tea by the leading man of that village. This man, who is a Confucian scholar, had been given the book of Proverbs by a business man in Ichowfu. The wisdom of Solomon appealed to him, and he was eager to know more. In our conversation, we found that he had been to our tent when we were at a city fifteen miles away, and had bought a New Testament. He seemed much interested, and we hope he will be led to believe in Christ.

"At one city which we visited with the tent we were surprised at the number of Mohammedans who came and were more surprised at their eagerness to buy New Testaments. Another encouraging feature of the work here was that Christians would bring their friends to the tent and often would buy a New Testament and give it to them.

"The gentry and government students in nearly every place we visited were attentive listeners to the gospel. In one city which we supposed was indifferent to the gospel, they came in large numbers to listen. We only wish we could take advantage of the many opportunities to preach to the people who seem so willing to hear.

"Since the Rev. and Mrs. S. F. Wang have gone to Chuchow they report many of the gentry coming to the chapel. We are planning to use a radioscope there and give a series of pictures covering the Old and New Testaments.

"The campaign to sell 50,000 gospels this year is progressing nicely. Almost 30,000 have been sold to date. The most of this work is done by Christians who volunteer their services."

Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a bad bronchial cough. I felt its beneficial effect immediately and before I had finished the bottle I was cured. I never tire of recommending this remedy to my friends," writes Mrs. William Bright, Ft. Wayne, Ind. Obtainable everywhere. (Advertisement)

CASE OF DYNAMITING AROUSED JUDGE GORDON

"Not Enough Possum Hunters Out Of Hell To Stop Justice," He Tells Jury.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 7.—"There are not enough 'possum hunters' or 'night riders' this side of hell to prevent justice being meted out to the perpetrators of this outrage if the guilty parties are indicted and brought before this court," declared Judge J. F. Gordon in delivering special instructions to the grand jury here yesterday, following the dynamiting of a negro cabin at Nortonville, in which one was killed and three others injured.

According to information here regarding the latest outrage in Hopkins county, which occurred at Nortonville early yesterday morning, "regulators" about ten days ago sent a stick of dynamite, some cartridges and matches to Charlie Day, warning him to leave the country. It was claimed the negro had been operating a disorderly house and boot-legging joint. Day moved out of the house late Monday afternoon and a negro family named Cathron moved in Tuesday afternoon. The place was dynamited yesterday morning. Will Cathron, aged about 20, being killed and Will Purdie being badly injured. One room of the residence was destroyed.

Sheriff Logan was sent for and, securing bloodhounds, attempted to trail the parties, the dogs following the trail to where the parties mounted horses, it being evident that several were in the crowd. The Hopkins County Court has authorized a reward of $200 for the arrest of the parties, and the Governor also will be asked to offer a similar amount.

STRANGE MOURNING CUSTOMS IN ANGOLA

Rev. Robert Shields, missionary of the Methodist Episcopal church at Loanda, tells of some strange mourning customs. He says:

"After her husband's body has been removed from the house, the poor widow goes to bed, and stays there eight days. She eats but little, especially avoiding fungi, the African's favorite dish, and other savory foods.

"Mourning clothes are worn from one to two years, but the longer a widow abstains from eating fungi the more does she show affection for her late husband.

"News of a death in the neighborhood is spread by 'raising the wall.' One after another those present in the death chamber join in a dismal howl. When all the relatives of the departed one have assembled, they tie strips of white cloth around their necks and, with the sweepings, then follows the ceremony of divining, that they may find out why the person died and decide what should be done about it.

"The house is cleaned as usual, but all sweepings must be kept until the witch-doctor comes. Then everybody gathers for a final wall. The strips of cloth are removed from their necks and, with the sweepings, are thrown into a ditch.

"Not the least important feature of such occasions is the big feast, consisting of beans, corn, chickens, rum—in fact, everything the people can get, both native and European. This is claimed to be for the benefit of the departed spirit, and food is placed at cross-roads, under large trees, or in the grave itself, in the hope that the spirit will eat. A hilarious time of drinking and dancing follows the feast.

"Such is the way of dull heathenism."

Since 1856 Democratic National Conventions have been held three times at Baltimore (1860, 1872, 1912), four times at Chicago (1864, 1884, 1892, 1900), once at New York (1868), three times at St. Louis (1876, 1888, 1904), once at Cincinnati (1880), once at Kansas City (1900), and once at Denver (1908). Just where the National Convention of 1916 will be held is as yet problematical.

The prices on a large variety of drugs have advanced to a high figure on account of the war, and now quinine has taken another jump to approximately one dollar an ounce. Drug prices are now higher than in 25 years because of the disturbing European conditions. However, no doubt many people, prejudiced by political bias, will lay the blame on President Wilson, as they have in many similar cases.

The truly democratic and unpretentious nature of our President is shown in his choice of a wife to become the "first lady of the land." He is to marry the widow of a Washington jeweler—no doubt as good and fit a lady for a President's wife as could be chosen, eminently respectable and all that, but not quite one whom most people would think he would wed. She is not rich nor of "princess" distinction, but just a handsome, sensible woman, like thousands of others. That they will be truly mated, goes without saying.

It sounds amusing if not disgusting to hear some men say that President Wilson is making one of the greatest Presidents our country ever had as regards his war policy and in the next breath blame him for alleged hard times and lack of prosperity, which in most instances is local or personal instead of general. The President's war policy is certainly splendid and he has done nothing whatever to retard the business prosperity of the country. No man could give a wiser administration in all ways than he has done and is doing.

Not outlining any stable or constructive policy which they would pursue if elected to office, or showing the grand things which have been done under their party's administration in this State, the Republican candidates, assisted by their party organs, are beating the bushes and pursuing a guerilla warfare upon their Democratic opponents, alike characteristic and meaningless. Why don't they tell what Republicanism has done or would do for the State? This is what the voters want to know. Abuse of a political opponent is always understood.

Democratic prospects in Kentucky this year are brighter than they have been for a number of years past. Indications are that Mr. Stanley will lead the ticket with a greater majority than he had in the primary, with his fellow candidates close behind. Enthusiasm is manifest everywhere and Democrats are standing as a vast army, united in the one great effort of victory. The only thing that might operate against a great victory is that Democrats may be too confident. Every Democrat should be sure to vote in order to secure the result desired.

The Republican candidates of Kentucky have no good reason to offer to the voters of Kentucky as to just why they should be elected.

They have no record of their party's administration in this State to which they can point with pride. On the contrary, Republican rule in Kentucky, especially the recent administration of Governor Willson, has been of such a character as to make people of the State, regardless of politics, ashamed to speak of it. There is no assurance that the present bunch of Republican candidates would be any more efficient than their party predecessors.

President Wilson is a sober-minded christian gentleman and in his official duties he looks to God to guide him in the preservation of peace. There is a vast difference between his attitude and that of the great rulers of Europe who are now engaged in the business of killing men, at the same time contending that God is on their side. The really religious mind can hardly conceive that God guides the cannon's aim or distributes the bursting shells. President Wilson maintains the attitude of the true christian spirit of "peace on earth, good will toward men."

POLITICAL MILITARY.

The Hartford Republican has a hard time getting its political hat on straight. At the "last writing" its "lid" appeared to occupy a cross between being upside down and hind part afore. One more look in the glass will probably change this position.

Years ago our neighbor was known as a straight-out Republican paper. Then the Bull Moose appeared in the political arena and it jumped from under the Elephant's ears to a position astride the horned animal. So fiercely did it contend for the Bull Moose idea that it would not admit articles written in defense of old-line Republicanism to appear in its columns, and defenders of the Republican faith had to use the Hartford Herald's columns to express their ideas in the premises.

Now the Hartford Republican has changed back to the Republican faith and has no use at all for Progressive (Bull Moose) candidates. All this is recent history with which the public is thoroughly familiar. We do not like to call the Republican a political demagogue. We will let its readers and the public form their own opinions.

The Republican is having a hard time defending its present policy as compared with its past political history. So hard run is it for material to uphold the cause of the Republican candidates that it has little to say in their behalf, but is trying to belaud the political situation by personal attacks upon two of the Democratic candidates in this district—Messrs. Birkhead and Ringo. Coming from such a source, of course these attacks are well understood. A newspaper that blows hot and cold is liable to say anything at any time and the reliability of its utterances is gauged accordingly. The Republican's diatribes against the two worthy and very respectable gentlemen who are running in the judicial race in this district, fall flat and disregarded when it is remembered the political animus which inspires them and the kaleidoscope history of the paper that prints them.

If the Republican really wants the public to take an interest in its political utterances, it should tell just what Republicanism has done for Kentucky, how it built up the State and caused prosperity in the years when it held sway. That would be real interesting reading. It would be more than that—it would be real news.

In the meantime the Republican should take one more look into the mirror, tuck up those straggling side curls which have so obscured its features in days gone by, and see if that changed shape of hat it is now wearing is on straight.

CONTENDS RELIGION HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH IT

Mr. Jerry Sullivan, a distinguished Democrat who has rendered the party valuable service, has written an article in the Lexington Herald in which he declares the small vote received by Lieut. Governor McDermott for Governor was due to the fact of religious prejudice against him because he was a Catholic. Mr. Ed Shinnick, the editor of the Shelby Record, who is a Catholic as well as Mr. Sullivan, replies as follows: "Mr. Sullivan is a Catholic and so is the writer of this article. There are bigots, it is true, but McDermott's religion alone was not what lost him the nomination, as Mr. Sullivan would have it appear. It was the issue that had been drawn, State-wide vs. County Unit, and many voters, who under different conditions would gladly have voted for McDermott, knew that he was weaker than Stanley and that a vote for McDermott would be the same as a half vote for McChesney, the State-wide candidate. There are thousands of Catholic voters in Kentucky who looked at it this way, and they voted for Stanley."

PRESIDENT WILL VOTE FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

He Takes Stand, Not As Party Leader, But As a Private Citizen.

Washington, Oct. 9.—President Wilson will vote for the woman suffrage State constitutional amendment in New Jersey, his home State, at the special election October 19. He said to-day he would vote, not as the leader of the Democratic party, but as a private citizen.

Mr. Wilson said he believed the question should not be made a party issue, and should be decided by the States, not the National Government.

The following statement was given out at the White House:

"I intend to vote for woman suffrage in New Jersey because I believe that the time has come to extend that privilege and responsibility to the women of the State; but I shall vote, not as the leader of my party in the nation, but only upon my private conviction as a citizen of New Jersey, called upon by the Legislature of the State to express his conviction at the polls. I think that New Jersey will be greatly benefited by the change."

"My position with regard to the way in which this great question should be handled is well known. I believe that it should be settled by the States, and not by the National Government, and that in no circumstances should it be made a party question, and my view has grown stronger at every turn of the agitation."

Secretaries Garrison, McAdoo, Redfield and Wilson, who will also vote on the question in the near future, have declared in favor of equal suffrage.

ALL THE VOTERS SHOULD SUSTAIN GOOD OFFICIALS

The Owensboro Messenger says: As the time for the November election rolls around, the voters of the Sixth Judicial district will not be unmindful of the fact that Circuit Judge Birkhead and Commonwealth's Attorney Ringo are deserving of their endorsement at the polls. After twelve years of faithful and efficient service both of these officials were named at the Democratic primary for another six years' trial. This was a compliment, not often conferred on even the best officials in Kentucky.

Judge Birkhead in the primary carried all four of the counties in his district over one of the ablest lawyers in the Green river region, a man of the most exemplary character. Such an endorsement at the ballot box speaks eloquently of the esteem of Judge Birkhead in this district.

Mr. Ringo, whose official duties have required him to prosecute many men and make enemies of some of them and their friends, was nominated by a smaller, but nevertheless decisive, majority in spite of all prejudices, and he goes before the people of his district upon a record of duty well and fearlessly done.

The recent "possum hunter" trials in Ohio county, in which these two courageous officials discharged their obligations so bravely and successfully, further endeared them to all law-abiding citizens of the district, and demonstrated again that in their hands the lives and property of peaceable and God-fearing people will be safe. Without regard to party ties, those who appreciate the benefits of good government should give their support to Birkhead and Ringo on the first Tuesday in November.

President Wilson's Cabinet.

President Wilson's present Cabinet consists of Secretary of State, Robert Lansing, New York; Secretary of Treasury William Gibbs McAdoo, New York; Secretary of War, Lindley M. Garrison, New Jersey; Attorney General Thomas Watt Gregory, of Texas; Secretary of Navy Josephus Daniels, of North Carolina; Secretary of Interior, Franklin Knight Lane, of California; Secretary of Agriculture, David Franklin Houston, of Missouri; Secretary of Commerce, William C. Redfield, of New York; Secretary of Labor, William Bauchop Wilson, of Pennsylvania.

SAYS NO OCCASION FOR DISCORD IN THE PARTY

We can see no occasion for Democratic discord. Last year the Beckham-Haly faction won and their followers were in control; no Democrat objected. This year the Stanley faction is on top—it is nothing but right that their men should control. In a few years the pendulum may swing the other way, and none, except the enemy, would seek to make capital of it. An observation of twenty-five years convinces us that political fortunes adjust themselves in good time, always; the balance is pretty evenly preserved in the long run and no party men of sound sense will be seriously disturbed by the fluctuations.

There is nothing in the present situation to warrant Democrats in discarding the principles of a lifetime and lending aid and comfort to an enemy that has invariably proved incapable of administering the affairs of the Commonwealth wisely.—[Cynthiana Democrat.]

HON. EDWIN P. MORROW AT HARTFORD MONDAY

Hon. Edwin P. Morrow, the biggest gun the Republicans have in their political arsenal and candidate for Governor on his party's ticket, spoke here Monday afternoon to a large crowd. He was introduced by Mr. A. D. Kirk with a few felicitous remarks.

For nearly two hours Mr. Morrow held his audience with a tedious and rather tiresome speech. His whole talk was composed of a violent attack upon the present Democratic administration of the State. He accused the present State officials and Democratic candidates who are now running, with almost every act of incompetence and political crime imaginable, his vicious personal attack upon Supt. Barksdale Hamlett, now candidate for Secretary of State, being especially noticeable.

Mr. Morrow carefully avoided any reference to or endorsement of former Republican administrations, either National or State. He seemed to be afraid to touch upon these two points. He did not tell his large audience anything about what former Republican administrations had done for Kentucky. This was an important matter he dodged completely. Criticisms of Democrats seemed to be all he could think of. Of course this is easy talk, both in public and private life.

Repeatedly Mr. Morrow made the egotistic assertion that "I am going to be the next Governor of Kentucky." He made no promises of what Republicanism would do for Kentucky again, only that he himself, if elected Governor, was going to turn out the fire marshals and foresters.

There was nothing constructive or statesmanlike in Mr. Morrow's long talk, only criticism and political incrimination. In this respect his speech was a distinct disappointment to those who carefully followed his remarks.

ARITHMETIC PROBLEMS FOR THE FARMER BOYS

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published in Springfield, Ohio, appears the following amusing and sensible contribution:

"Professor Gentry, of the State normal school, Springfield, Missouri, offers some original ideas as to the kind of problems that country-school arithmetics should contain. Here are a few:

"A farm wagon if given shelter when not in use will last for about fifteen years. When not in shelter it will last half as long. What is the average annual loss on a $55 wagon that stands out in the open?"

"A kitchen that is poorly arranged requires a mother to take one hundred steps more a day in preparing meals than she would in a well-arranged kitchen. How many unnecessary steps does she take in a year? How many miles is this, allowing 20 inches to the step?"

"If a quail in the course of a year eats 25 cents' worth of grain and destroys two dollars' worth of harmful insects and weed seeds, how much has a farmer injured himself by killing three pairs of quail?"

"Rather more sensible—isn't it?—than calculations as to the weight of the pyramids of Egypt, or the distance reached below the water line of an iceberg that sticks up a hundred feet into the air?"

HIGH PRICES FOR KENTUCKY COTTON

Hickman, Ky. Oct. 11.—Cotton last week reached the highest point ever known here for the regular run of cotton when the price reached 5½ cents per pound, or $5.75 per hundred, this price being for seed cotton, while last year much of the lint cotton brought only 6 cents—just ½ cent more than is now being paid for seed cotton. The prices are higher than being given anywhere for miles around, and the cotton is coming in in large quantities.

Mr. Marvin Miller, Official Stenographer for the Sixth Judicial District, arrived in Hartford yesterday to assume his duties. Mrs. Arthur Petty did the reporting in his absence.

Some people never put off till tomorrow what they can do just as well next week.

JUDGE J. P. MILLER DEAD AT HOME IN HARTFORD

Judge James P. Miller died at the residence of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bean, Walnut street, Hartford, last Monday night, after many months of patient suffering from a complication of diseases incident to old age.

After funeral services conducted by his pastor, Eld. R. L. Creal, assisted by Rev. B. W. Napier, his remains were taken to the Paxton burial grounds, where they were interred by the side of his wife, daughter and son, who preceded him.

He was born near Mt. Zion church in Ohio county, Ky., Oct. 6, 1850, making him 65 years and 6 days old. He was married Jan. 1, 1877, to Miss Sarah Alice Paxton. She preceded him in death 26 years ago. Born as a result of this union, six children, one of whom died in early infancy; Miss Norma Miller, who died in 1910, Mr. Roy Miller, who died in 1912; Mr. P. A good and useful man has been called to his final reward.

STANLEY APPEALS IN BEHALF CAPT. MORROW

To the Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.—Sir: I understand that Capt. Charles H. Morrow has been directed by the department to cancel several engagements to speak in Kentucky in behalf of his brother, the Hon. Edwin P. Morrow. Mr. Morrow, the Republican nominee for Governor in this State, in a published interview has laid the responsibility for this order at the door of Democratic leaders in Kentucky and of those in charge of my campaign, and by this thinly veiled inference implied that I am more or less responsible for the canceling of Capt. Morrow's engagements here. Mr. Edwin P. Morrow has denounced this alleged protest of Democrats as "so little and so contemptible as to go beyond the respect of every man who loves fair play." After careful investigation I find that nobody connected with the Democratic headquarters knew that Capt. Morrow was to speak in Kentucky. I certainly did not. No complaint was ever made by anybody directly or indirectly connected with my campaign for Governor. I sincerely hope that if it is possible or at all consistent with the rules governing your department, that the regulations governing the conduct of all army officers in this matter, without regard to politics, be waived and that Capt. Morrow be permitted to speak, talk, write or do any other thing that in his opinion will aid his brother's candidacy. As far as this headquarters is concerned, Mr. Morrow has much more to hope for from this unwarranted and earnest appeal for sympathy than from anything Capt. Morrow may do or say.

A. O. STANLEY.

CLASSIFIED TAXES.

Whenever there is any talk about a lower rate of taxes on intangible personal property a great howl goes up from the owners of tangible property, who affect to believe it a gross injustice. Intangible personal property consists mostly of Stocks, Bonds, Notes, Cash, Accounts, Mortgages, and other such evidences of enterprise, all of which are limited by law or custom to a certain percent of earnings. No other kind of property has the limits of its profits fixed by law. A man may lawfully earn all he can in his store, his shop or on his farm. He may charge what he pleases for his professional services, for his manufactured wares, for his cattle, his hogs and his corn, wheat and tobacco, but when he comes to lending money, which the investment in Securities includes, he is strictly limited to a gross income never exceeding six per cent, and is it fair to exact half or more of his income for taxes when others get off with perhaps one-tenth of their earnings from other kinds of invested property, farming, professions and business? The argument is all in favor of the money lender, as his capital is essential to all industrial improvement and cheap money greases the wheels of progress and prosperity.

TAX AMENDMENT

TO BE VOTED ON AT THE NOVEMBER ELECTION.

The Tax Amendment to be again voted on at the November Election will, if adopted, authorize the Legislature to enact a new Tax Law that will subject the enormous amount of personal property in the shape of Stocks, Bonds, Notes and accounts now escaping taxation to a fair share of the burden and reduce the taxes on Land and Improvements. Every taxpayer should vote for it, as any Law enacted under its provisions must be ratified by the people before it can be enforced and this guarantees a fair Law.

The Amendment.

"The General Assembly shall provide by law an annual tax, which, with other resources, shall be sufficient to defray the estimated expenses of the Commonwealth for each fiscal year. Taxes shall be levied and collected for public purposes only and shall be uniform upon all property of the same class subject to taxation within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax; and all taxes shall be levied and collected by general laws.

"The General Assembly shall have power to divide property into classes and to determine what class or classes of property shall be subject to local taxation. Bonds of the State and of Counties, municipalities, taxing and school districts shall not be subject to taxation.

"Any law passed or enacted by the General Assembly pursuant to the provisions of or under this amendment or amended section of the constitution, classifying property and providing a lower rate of taxation on personal property, tangible or intangible, than that upon real estate, shall be subject to the referendum power of the people."

This amendment was ratified by an enormous majority at the election in 1912, but was pronounced invalid by the Court of Appeals because it had been advertised only sixty, instead of ninety, days as the Constitution provides.

It has been advertised in legal form and in time for this year's election and should receive a larger majority than before, as Tax paying voters have had time to study the question and discover the faults in the present Tax Law.

REPORT OF WISCONSIN TAX COMMISSION.

"Justice in taxation can only be attained by strict compliance with the law. This is proven by universal experience. There is no other way. With rare exceptions, when an assessor violates the law and sets up a standard of his own he either inflicts an injury upon some individual taxpayer or else he does injustice to every other taxpayer in the State. As a general rule, every step he takes outside the straight and narrow path provided by law leads to greater and more glaring inequalities, and in many cases * * * degenerates into a mere travesty on justice."

FROM REPORT OF KENTUCKY TAX COMMISSION, 1909.

"There are two reasons why the general property tax has failed in operation. First, because under modern conditions it cannot be enforced effectively. Secondly, because of a more or less conscious recognition of the fact that strict enforcement would result in a still greater injustice than now prevails."

"The attempt to tax all property at a uniform standard of valuation and at the same rate, regardless of its special characteristics, earning power or the benefits derived from the expenditures of government, violates the primary rule of just taxation and offends the natural sense of justice."

MRS. CARRITHERS FELT DISCOURAGED

Glad She Took Advice When Husband Said, "Let's Get a Bottle of Tanlac."

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 11.—Statement after statement is now being made in regard to the merits of Tanlac, the new medicine that is accomplishing such astonishing results in Louisville. Mrs. Sallie Carrithers, residing at 3846 Grand Boulevard, city, wife of a well known car builder at the L. & N. shops, said recently:

"My husband just simply forced me to take this Tanlac, but now I am glad that I took the medicine, as I am one of the happiest women in Louisville."

"I had always suffered from catarrh of the stomach, but my real trouble began when I ate something and had ptomaine poisoning as a result of it. My stomach was in such a bad, sensitive condition that I could not eat anything."

"My husband said to me one day: 'Why don't you try this Tanlac?' I had tried so many things that I felt discouraged and told him that I believed nothing would help me."

"He took me for a walk one evening recently, and when passing the Taylor-Isaacs Drug Store, he said, 'Let's go in and get a bottle of Tanlac.' He had my arm and we went into the store together and bought a bottle of Tanlac."

"I waited until morning before I began taking the medicine. I took a dose before breakfast, one at noon, and a third at supper. That night I slept more soundly than I had in months. I now have taken two bottles of Tanlac and I feel like I am cured. I am here to get another bottle, though, as my husband insists that I should do so."

"I simply cannot get enough to eat now. I never had such an appetite in my life. I enjoy everything I taste and I digest everything properly. My stomach is in excellent condition and the catarrhal trouble has disappeared. My hearing has even improved. Tanlac is really a very wonderful medicine."

Tanlac, the premier preparation, is sold exclusively in Hartford at the Ohio County Drug Co.'s store, by L. Wilbur Mitchell, Beaver Dam, by L. C. Morton & Son, Centertown. Advertisement.

The Poorest Monarch.

George V. is the poorest in pelf and palaces of all the Old World potentates. It is said that the Kaiser's private fortune has been diminishing owing to the war; but even with his royal residences and interests in all manner of businesses, he has never been the richest monarch in the world. That honor has always belonged to the Czar, who, on his accession came into the Romanoff private estate, yielding about $10,000,000 a year. Beyond this his "salary" amounted to another $10,000,000, besides many profitable investments abroad.—[London Cor. New York Sun.]

World's Deepest Wells.

Farm and Fireside says: "The deepest well in the world is in a coal field in Germany. It is 7,350 feet deep. The second deepest well is in the United States, 6 miles west of Pittsburgh. It is 7,174 feet deep."

"Four other wells in the United States are each over a mile deep. One of the most interesting wells in the world is in western China. It is 3,600 feet deep and was drilled for petroleum with a cable made of strands of rattan."

REGARD FOR THE LAW.

Ignorance of the Law is no excuse and disregard of the Law is a crime. When Laws are so obnoxious as to afford excuses for non-compliance they should be changed, and the people have this right. "If your right hand offend you, cut it off," was no idle injunction, but means the offense should be removed rather than the mutilation of the member.

Our Tax Laws are distasteful and detrimental, but the remedy should be to amend them instead of allowing them to undermine the morals of the people by openly disregarding them.

The successful evasion of one Law may encourage the violation of others and in time breed a contempt for all Laws.

While every citizen owes obedience to the Laws, the Laws should be made fair and equal to every citizen.

The Tax Laws are neither fair nor equal and are productive of deceit and dishonor and if for no other reason than this should be changed.

UNIFORM TAXATION.

Property differs so greatly in character and earning power it has always been impossible to tax the various kinds uniformly. Every attempt to tax movable property the same as immovable property has failed and will always fail. "Two wrongs do not make a right," and when assessors find it impossible to discover the ownership of movable property and undertake to square things by lowering the assessment of immovable property, there is no right or justice in it and everybody suffers in mind and matter. The more stringent the Law to uncover movable property the faster it moves and hides, and this fact is so well established the assessors in most counties let movable property go by default. So-called Uniform taxation is a delusion and a snare. It may suffice to fool the ignorant, but the knowing ones just laugh at it. This is rough on the poor man whose all is in sight and immovable, and is also tough on the rich man who defies the law and hides his wealth from the assessor, for he knows he is doubly guilty in saving himself at the expense of his less fortunate neighbor.

EQUITABLE TAXATION.

The differences in property call for differences in taxation just as "one star differs from another," and yet all the stars and all the property serve their purposes. The man who puts his money in Securities issued on property already taxed and paying more taxes because of the improvements justified by the man's money, is just as useful a citizen as the man who puts his money in lands and houses; but when the first man objects to giving up the greater part of the earnings on his securities, issued on property already taxed, he is looked upon as a tax dodger, and the man with the houses and lands who cannot so readily escape denounces a tax system which seems so unfair. Ask this man to surrender a half to three-fourths of the income from his houses and lands and there would be another tale. The revenue of the first man is limited, while that of the other is unlimited, and yet there are people who cannot see the distinction. Equitable taxation is based on the earning power of all property, in just proportion, and if any partiality is shown it should be in favor of the man who risks his money to improve houses and lands owned by others, which may depreciate, but cannot fly away.

TAX AMENDMENT.

The Tax Amendment was carried by thirty thousand majority two years ago, but because the Secretary of State failed to advertise it ninety instead of sixty days before the election, as the Constitution requires, it must be voted on again at the November Election. The welfare of the State demands the re-adoption of this important measure and every fair-minded citizen should vote for it.

KENTUCKY NEEDS

A good many things to place the State in the rank she deserves in the march of prosperity, but when sifted down the greatest need of all is a new Tax System that will attract instead of repel Capital, which guarantees cheap money for the improvement of farms and development of local industries. Although one of the oldest States, centrally located and with marvelous natural advantages, other and less favored States have outstripped us, and, as someone has aptly said, "Kentucky is an island of comparative poverty surrounded by a Sea of industrial prosperity." And why? The answer is because of our repellent Tax System. Equitable taxation means cheap money. Easy money means improvement and development. Industrial enterprise keeps the people at home and increases the population. More people means more consumers of our home products. Close markets means good prices, and all of this has been retarded because some wise acres borrowed a so-called Uniform Tax Law from another State which had been striving to get rid of it for forty years and which shows that an intolerant politician may not always be a tolerable patriot, or Kentucky would not have been throttled in the way she has been.

WOOD AND METAL AND MUSIC.

A Theory Born of the Patter of the Raindrops on the Roof.

Since Mittelberger, the German musician, while sleeping under a roof of cedar shingles in Philadelphia, in 1754, was entranced with the resonance produced by raindrops falling on the shingles, until the present time, wood has held an indisputable place in the manufacture of musical instruments. Mittelberger's first work under his theory that wood was more musical than metal was when he built a pipe organ—the first in America—with the pipes of southern white cedar, the same wood which had charmed his ear while he listened to the rain on the roof.

The superlative quality of spruce as material for sounding boards is due to the long, straight, regular fibers of which the wood is composed. The microscope reveals what the unaided eye cannot see. The minute cells forming the wood are extremely long—full one hundred times as long as their diameter measurement—and each cell or fiber is stretched like a taut string. Although these cells, all lying lengthwise of the wood, are packed and stretched closely, side by side, there is room for vibration when they are struck.

All woods possess this quality or resonance, but in vastly different degrees. Some are dull and nearly dead, others emit tones quick and sharp, and still others give out sounds that continue a long time and gradually die away as if vanishing in the distance. Spruce is of the latter kind.

Wood possesses resonance, metal has ring. That may not wholly conform to dictionary definitions, but it classifies the two materials pretty accurately. The singing of a tightly stretched telephone wire across an open field in the autumn wind is a most pleasing melody to one who has an ear for the delicacy of the simpler sounds. But how much softer and melodious that singing wire becomes if the ear is pressed against the telephone pole so that the vibrations come through the wood to reach the ear, instead of directly from the wire.—Hardwood Record.

LUCK IN A BLUNDER.

A Story of Frederick the Great and a Frightened Ensign.

During the last evening of my stay at Friedrichsruhe Bismarck was at his best. He was in excellent spirits. After dinner we lit pipes, and well filled tankards of beer were handy. The prince seated himself in his long armchair, put his feet upon a leg rest, and evidently he was settled down for a good talk.

He asked me what I should like him to relate. I said, "Pray, sir, tell me any story that comes into your head." Pulling vigorously at his pipe, the following story was slowly developed: "My grandfather served for three years under Frederick the Great and told me this anecdote: An ensign made a blunder during the maneuvers of troops at a review. The king, as was his wont when annoyed, fell into a violent rage and pursued the terrified ensign, stick in hand. The young soldier ran for very life and jumped a ditch, leaving the king upon the other side shaking his stick at him in a fury."

"Shortly after the escape of the ensign the colonel of the regiment came up to the king and said, 'Your majesty, the young man committed a blunder doubtless. I have just received his resignation from your majesty's service,' placing the document into the king's hands. 'I am sorry for it, for he was a good officer, but he can take no other step under the circumstances.'

"The king answered, 'Send him to me.' The ensign was sent for and came, trembling, lest this time the stripes should in reality fall upon his shoulders or, still worse, he might be sent to prison. Without any preface the king replied, 'Here is your captaincy, sir, which I endeavor to give you this morning, but you ran away so swiftly that my old legs could not catch you up.'—Sir W. B. Richmond in North American Review.

Origin of Gibraltar.

The "tar" in Gibraltar is a contraction of Taric or Tariff, the name of a famous pirate of medieval times. The whole word may be translated as "mountain or cliff of Taric." This same root "tar" occurs in the word "tariff." Taric after a time came to levy a tax or tariff on passing vessels instead of robbing them outright. In this way our word "tariff" had its origin. It is interesting to note also that this robber was further honored by having the town of Tarifa, near Gibraltar, named for him.—Detroit Journal.

FARM INSURANCE

Why experiment? When your house or barn burns down you ought to feel sure that your loss will be paid. Why not insure with an old established company that has been doing business in this county for many years and has never had to be sued in order to collect the loss? Prompt and courteous with all of its customers. Insure with the Continental and you are assured of a "square deal" in case of fire.

Why insure with an Owensboro man when you have a man here at home who can and will give you just as good, if not better? Practice the old idea "Let the home man have your business." I will appreciate it and spend the money that you pay me here at home.

I am prepared to write fire insurance on any and all kinds of farm property on the five year installment, three year cash, or one year cash plan. I have the agency for the Continental Insurance Company.

When in need of insurance call me or drop me a card and I will be "on the job" immediately.

COLD WATER THROWN ON TOBACCO POOLING PLAN

Causes It To Go Under—Regrets
For the Bad Results Feared.

Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 7.—Green River District Union A. S. of E. met in the court house to-day and was called to order by President J. W. Dunn.

Secretary Robertson was not present at the opening and Mr. Louis Carrico acted as temporary secretary till the arrival of Secretary Robertson.

Representatives were present from the counties of Daviess, Hancock and McLean and from Warlick and Spencer counties, Ind.

Reports of amount of tobacco pooled in the different counties were made, and these reports indicated that the growers were not pushing the work of getting the contracts signed up, whereupon a resolution was offered as follows, viz.:

Whereas, after several weeks of hard work by members of the A. S. of E. in an attempt to pool the 1915 crop of tobacco, the farmers of the district who are not members of the A. S. of E. show by their actions they do not favor a pool, and whereas the newspapers of Owensboro seem to think it the best policy to throw cold water on the project, and speak enthusiastically of the loose-leaf floors, thereby making the battle harder for us who have tried to pool, and whereas, there seems to be a desire on the part of some farmers to stay outside and let some others make the fight for them, therefore be it

Resolved, That while we think the results will be disastrous to the best interests of all tobacco growers, we favor declaring the pool off and let every farmer make such disposition of his tobacco as his judgment dictates.

The foregoing was unanimously adopted and on motion made by Louis Carrico and seconded by G. S. Ford, it was ordered that the proceedings of this meeting be submitted to all the newspapers in the Green River District for publication.

Signed, J. W. DUNN, Pres.
S. B. ROBERTSON, Sec'y.

BEAVER DAM.

Oct. 11.—Last Tuesday night burglars broke into Cooper Bros. store which is located under the opera hall, and took clothing and shoes amounting to over a hundred dollars. They made their entrance through the back door by breaking a window glass and reaching in and unlocking the door, the key having been left in the door. They also broke into the post-office, but Mr. Taylor had deposited the contents of the office in the bank. They got nothing in the post-office. Cooper Bros. found two vests, two coat racks and one shoe that they dropped, up the railroad. The lecture was delivered the night of the robbery, in the opera hall. Nothing was done till after the lecture.

CHICAGO SALOONS WERE CLOSED LAST SUNDAY

For the First Time In 44 Years

—Lowest Crime Record
Made.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Closing of saloons in Chicago on Sunday for the first time in forty-four years resulted in the day passing with the lowest crime record in the history of the police department. Chief of Police Healey announced to-day.

Out of the 7,152 saloons in the city, only twenty-eight were found to have violated Mayor Thompson's closing order, which became effective at midnight Saturday. Most of the violations were of a minor character, only one saloon keeper being arrested. Saloons in the suburban districts, where the State closing law was not enforced, received an unusually brisk trade from automobile parties. There were only sixteen arrests made for drunkenness yesterday and forty-seven on Saturday, as compared with an average of 243 for two days during several months past.

Some of the downtown bars and a few in the densely populated districts opened their places for business between last midnight and 1 o'clock this morning, but the amount of trade was not up to expectations. Saloon keepers estimated that they lost $400,000 yesterday as a result of being obliged to close.

MISTAKEN FOR BURGLAR

—SLAIN BY A PREACHER

New Orleans, Oct. 11.—The Rev. Byron Holley, rector of St. George's Episcopal church, one of the most fashionable congregations in this city, early to-day shot and killed Lansing Pearsall, son of a prominent railroad man here. Dr. Holley told police he shot Pearsall thinking he was a burglar.

About 6 o'clock this morning Dr. Holley telephoned police headquarters he had shot a man in the rectory study. The minister told the police that while in his office he heard someone in his study adjoining. Taking his pistol he stepped into the study and saw a man near the door.

"The intruder did not answer my questions as to who he was and what he wanted," Dr. Holley said, "and when I ordered him out he made a motion as if to draw a weapon. I fired and the man fell."

Several hours later the man was identified at the morgue by Nathan G. Pearsall, claim agent of the Texas & Pacific road, as his son, Lansing, twenty-two years old. No reason for the young man's presence in the rectory could be given by his parents or friends. Dr. Holley said he never had seen Pearsall before.

Police found the window in the rectory parlor had been opened. Young Pearsall lived several blocks from the Holley home on the next street.

BOARD ISSUES WARNING

AGAINST DIPHTHERIA

The State Board of Health has issued a warning against diphtheria because of reports from widely separated counties of the disease in a fatal and epidemic form.

The board urges that when a child has sore throat it should be placed in a room remote from other children until a competent physician decides that the affection is not contagious. If in doubt, he should send a specimen to the laboratory for free examination, but without waiting to hear from this, if there are yellow-white patches in the throat or other evidences of diphtheria, administer at once 5,000 units of antitoxin if in the first day of the attack and 7,000 or 10,000 units if later, every six hours, and at the same time use 1,000 units to immunize each exposed child or person. The board always keeps supplies of the best fresh antitoxin on hand which can be sent to county or city officials and physicians at 50 cents, $1.90, $2.10 and $3.10 respectively for 1,000, 5,000, 7,000 and 10,000 unit packages, less than one-third the retail price, to be paid for directly to the manufacturer.

Keep all children of the house from school or other children, unless they are immunized with antitoxin and rigidly excluded from the sick room. No one but the physician and nurse should enter the sick room, and they should use every precaution not to carry infection from it.

SOUNDS KEYNOTE OF GOVERNMENT IDEALS

The keynote of the ideals of Government that have moved A. O. Stanley during his public career were voiced in a few words by Stanley himself in an extemporaneous speech he delivered at the State Fair in Louisville on September 16th. The gubernatorial candidate was speaking of good roads and during the course of his speech he said:

"What has preserved this Government for 150 years or more? I will tell you: The plain citizen seated in a cane-bottom chair on a rag carpet, before an open fire place, with a Bible on his knee, asking God to guide him through the night, and arising in the fear of that same God at dawn, to take up the simple tasks of the day. He votes with no thought of profit to himself, but for the good of his family and the honor of his country and the glory of his God. This is the power upon which this republic rests and must forever rest."

AN APPEAL IN BEHALF

PROSPERITY OF COUNTY

The good roads question has undoubtedly appealed to the people of Ohio county, as a result of which the DuPont Highway is in a fair way of construction by reason of the full and unlimited labor of a great force of men who have been working on this road heretofore, on September 27 and 28, and several sections of which have been worked in like manner on the above days.

The managers and promoters of the DuPont Highway have concluded to make October 20 and 21 days whereon the people can again show their enthusiasm and appreciation of this improvement.

It should be recognized by the citizens of the county that there is no improvement that can be made that will mean more to the increase in the valuation of the land or the added pleasure of life, than good roads. It is hardly necessary to explain the many advantages furnished by good roads to the travelers who live in the county.

This appeal for assistance in furthering this highway is made with a promise that on other roads of similar character, started in the county, the residents along this road will be willing to furnish their aid and support.
